Since your class will take place at Brown University's Warren Alpert Medical School, please note the following:

During your course work, you will spend time in the Warren Alpert Medical School's Anatomy Laboratory and Clinical Suites and other professional settings. You will be required to wear the appropriate lab and professional attire indicated below.

Anatomy Lab Attire:

Acceptable Attire: Closed-toe shoes or sneakers and the provided lab coat

Unacceptable attire: Open-toe shoes (sandals, flip-flops)

Please note: Due to safety concerns, students who are not compliant with the lab dress code will not be allowed into the lab.

Professional Attire

Part of the curriculum includes modeling experiences consistent with medical students who are training to become doctors within the medical field. Students should plan to dress according to the established guidelines for appropriate professional attire within the Warren Alpert Medical School Clinical Suites or within a clinical setting.

Acceptable attire: dress pants, khakis, or suit pants, skirts or dresses (knee length or longer), professional shirts or tops, closed-toe shoes. Neckties are optional.

Unacceptable attire: jeans, leggings, shorts, sleeveless shirts, sneakers or open-toed shoes

Please note: Students should be prepared with attire for up to 3 days for each of these experiences and will have access to laundry facilities within the residential spaces. If a student would like to discuss alternate options for professional attire that are more congruent with their identity, they should feel welcome to contact our Program Advisors at precollege@brown.edu.
